INITIAL COMMITMENT

It starts with the consequence of careful attention to observing the problematic health problems in a dominant and recurring community with a large volume of events that causes loss and suffering. Many simple problems and their solutions are all around, but due to ignorance and not being institutionalized creates a phenomenon of helplessness.

Discussing arousing the instinct to try, and the confidence to move the steps that can be done, there are simple and safe means. And biological facts, that our biodiversity has the potential to support that effort.

It was started by establishing a research institute, Gistech (Global Institute of Science and Technology) in 2000. Research began. Some formulas are formulated and created. Methods for making formulas and diagnosis methods were developed, and therapeutic methods were formulated.

Then too many volunteers were willing. Effectiveness is felt. Encouragement and research efforts finally received empirical support. Team enthusiasm is formed. Confidence is also strengthened, that organic material material extracted from plants and animals can answer both simple and complex medical problems. and we believe that there are many unfinished agendas in the medical world.

We believe that with classic postulations, biological solutions exist within us and around us. Quality of effort and continuous energy is an inevitable choice. Hopes for enlightenment of knowledge and discovery are always awaited.

The effectiveness of what has been done then disturbs to try in the world of plants and animals. The substance of organic formulas with careful calculation can also answer several problems that arise.

In the plant world, we develop farming patterns and types of fertilizers in the formulated perspectives and arguments. In the animal world, we develop feed research activities that are suitable, so that livestock are healthy and productive. A charming appearance on the application of the findings has consequences for the additional predictors of the cosmetic properties of research products.

In the end, this activity is impressively widespread or unfocused. But we believe: NO. Organic substances in the right format or mode can benefit the health of the human world, animals and plants. The mode can be in the form of feed, nutrition, or in the form of medicine.

After a number of formulas have been formulated, formulated and then tested in an invitro laboratory and volunteers produce positive data, we patent the findings (attached).

The next step is to create a legal entity business unit, PT. Rabana Sejahtera Indonesia.
