What is Rattan?

Rattan is a plant found growing mainly on the continent of Indonesia in addition to smaller amounts growing in the Philippines and other smaller countries.

Rattan is one of many species of palms known in its scientific classification of Tribe as Calameae. Unlike most other palms, rattan grows more like a vine rather than a tree. The vine-like stems require support and thrive on trees and other vegetation to support them.

Rattan grows quickly and withstands heavy harvesting. Rattan stems can grow hundreds of feet long retaining a diameter between matchstick size to about 2-1/2 in (6 cm), diameter along its length. These long consistent diameter sized branches make rattan a perfect material to be used in the construction of rattan furniture and other home decor products.

Why Rattan ?!

Many people love rattan because it adds warmth and brings a natural element to interior decor. It's also affordable, durable and accessible at all price levels.

Rattan is a natural resources product, from the jungle to your life. Natural resources, natural life. Environment friendly, and made in Indonesia.

Today, you can get Rattan Furniture easily. Just contact us for costum order inquiry, phone : +62-811-2011-357 or email : sales@casahome.co.id

What is Wood?

Wood is a porous and fibrous structural tissue found in the stems and roots of trees and other woody plants. It is an organic material – a natural composite of cellulose fibers that are strong in tension and embedded in a matrix of lignin that resists compression.

Why Wood ?!

It's environmentally friendly, it looks great, it's warm and cozy, it's super-strong, it lasts hundreds or even thousands of years, and you can use it for everything from building bridges to making paper, furniture or heating your home. It's wood and it's quite possibly the most useful and versatile material on the planet, with many thousands of different uses. So what is it that makes wood so good? Let's take a closer look.

WOOD SELECTION

TEAK WOOD

TEAK WOOD IS MOSTLY USED FOR OUTDOOR FURNITURE, BUT ALSO A LOT FOR HIGH-QUALITY INDOOR FURNITURE. Also for boat decks and flooring it is used a lot because of its strength. To get the looks of teak wood for a lower price many companies also use teak veneer. This is a thin layer of 1 millimeter teak wood, which is glued onto a cheaper species of wood, or even onto plywood. TEAK IS ALSO A VERY POPULAR WOOD SPECIES TO USE IN DOORS AND WINDOW FRAMES SINCE IT YOU WITHHOLD ANY WEATHER.

MAHOGANY WOOD

Mahogany wood grows on many places in the world. The mahogany we use is Toona Sureni, which is native to Indonesia. The mahogany tree can grow up to 50 meter tall. The stems in Indonesia usually have a diameter of max 60cm.

Mahogany is originally colored red. Since this color is not desirable the wood is mostly finished in a darker color. There's also the option to bleach the mahogany and then finish it in a teak-like color.

MANGO WOOD

The wood from mango trees is widely used in cabinets. Since the cost are much lower than teak or mahogany a lot of money can be saved. For use in chairs or tables you must be careful since it's not as strong as mahogany or teak. The grain can differ a lot per tree, so it is used a lot with solid color finishing.

ROSEWOOD

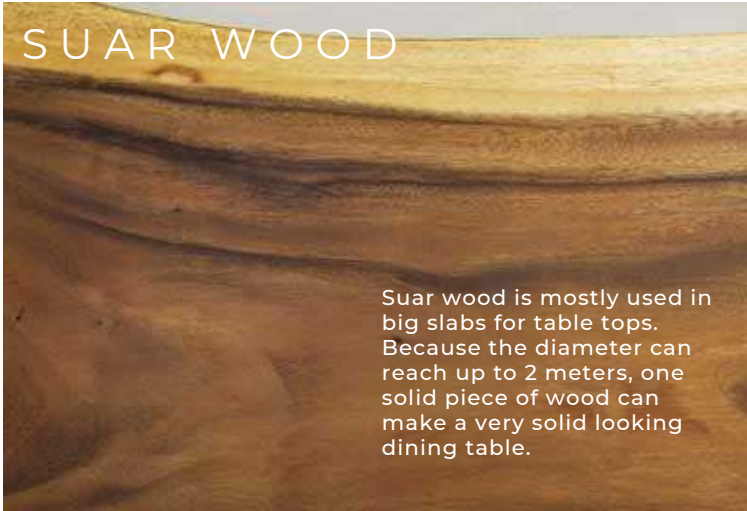

ROSEWOOD HAS A VERY BEAUTIFUL GRAIN. THEREFORE IT IS NOT ONLY USED IN FURNITURE, BUT ALSO IN MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

For furniture it can be used with or without the white sapwood. The finishing is mostly transparent, sometimes with a bit darker stain. Sonokeling is strong enough to use it in any kind of furniture.

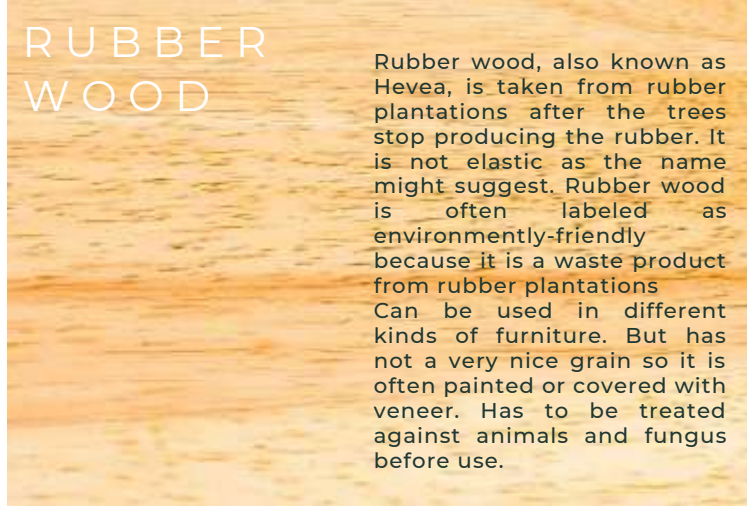

SUAR WOOD

Suar wood is mostly used in big slabs for table tops. Because the diameter can reach up to 2 meters, one solid piece of wood can make a very solid looking dining table.

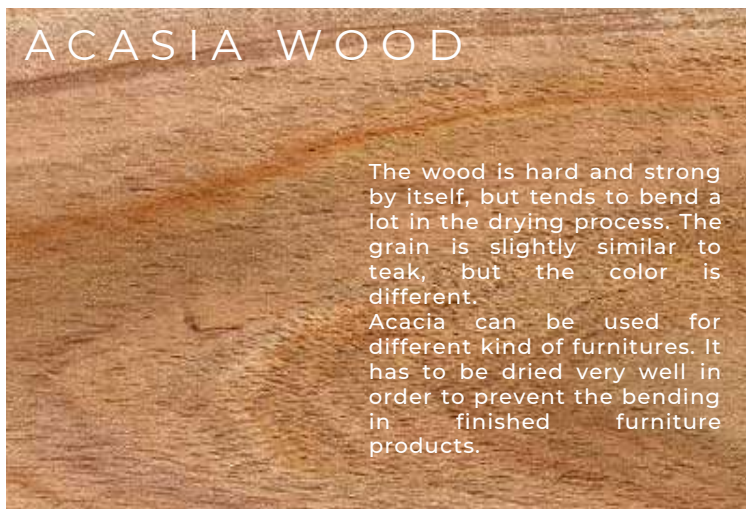

RUBBER WOOD

Rubber wood, also known as Hevea, is taken from rubber plantations after the trees stop producing the rubber. It is not elastic as the name might suggest. Rubber wood is often labeled as environmentally-friendly because it is a waste product from rubber plantations. Can be used in different kinds of furniture. But has not a very nice grain so it is often painted or covered with veneer. Has to be treated against animals and fungus before use.

ACASIA WOOD

The wood is hard and strong by itself, but tends to bend a lot in the drying process. The grain is slightly similar to teak, but the color is different. Acacia can be used for different kind of furnitures. It has to be dried very well in order to prevent the bending in finished furniture products.
